

SPECIAL NOTICES.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I HAVE purchased the Moore Office Company, located at 1000 15th street, northwest, Washington, D. C. I will not be responsible for debts contracted in connection with the business after March 9, 1920, unless authorized by myself.

L. L. PURDON, 1517 15th St. N.W.

WILL THE PARTIES WHO WITNESSED the automobile accident causing the death of MRS. IDA N. TIMBERLAKE on Monday afternoon, March 8, at 10th and G streets, kindly communicate with her sister, Mrs. MARION R. WATTS, Apt. 311, 2522 14th st. n.w. Phone Columbia 4558, after 7 p.m.

WARFIELD'S INCOME TAX BUREAU.
The Bureau of Real Service.
Open every day, until 11 p.m.
Including Sunday, at both offices.
(Second floor) 1423 F and 1410 H n.w.

REDUCED FREIGHT RATES TO SALT LAKE CITY, Utah; greater protection to shippers; car to leave this month; small and large lots can be accommodated. For further particulars drop card or phone SMITH'S TRANSFER AND STORAGE CO., 1302-1329 U. St. Phone North 2543.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: ALL FURNITURE and household goods stored with Smith's Transfer Storage Company by Florence Carr, Joseph Thomas, Fannie Taylor, H. E. Tracy, A. E. Wesley, B. F. Zimmerman, Mrs. Mary Long, Mrs. W. W. Vink, Miss E. J. Jones, Mary Lee, Miss R. W. Parkins and Mrs. W. Christman will be sold for storage and other charges at 1000 15th st. n.w. on MARCH 13, 1920, if not settled for before said date.

DOORS EASED, NIGHT LATCHES PUT ON, ash cords, general repairing. F. 291 J, any time.

Quoting Prices on BEAVER BOARD.—THAT I INTEREST YOU, HAVE US SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS NOW, MR. BUILDER, SO YOU'LL BE READY for spring operations.

Geo. M. Barker Co., Inc.
609-611 N. Y. ave., 1517 15th St. N.W.
LEAKY ROOF?
CALL MAIN 700.

Grafton & Son, Inc., Wash. Loan & Trust Co., 1200 15th St. N.W.
Roofing Experts for 35 Years.
REPAIR THAT ROOF!
The Shedd Roofing Company guarantees reliable work at its lowest price.

SHEDD ROOFING CO., 1200 15th St. N.W.
WANTED—A LOAD OF FURNITURE TO GO to Allentown, Easton and Lancaster. Pa. SMITH'S TRANSFER & STORAGE CO., 1302 U. St.

THE SHADE SHOP
No Branches. 733 12th St. N.W. Not on the Corner.
You have no cause for regrets if your window shades are made by us.

We're Always Glad
—to furnish estimates on printed matter of all kinds. Phone us.

National Capital Press,
811 11th St. Phone M. 650 (3 trunk lines).

NOW IS THE TIME TO ORDER nursery stock for spring planting. Thousands of choice apple trees, true to name, evergreens and shrubbery from the well known Munson Hill Nursery. Address GEORGE F. CURTIS, 825 Riggs bldg., or phone Franklin 6229.

I WISH TO INFORM MY FORMER PATRONS that I am now associated with the Becker Paint Co., 1220 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., where I will be pleased to serve with careful and personal attention all needs which they may have in painting, glazing, varnishing, etc. Respectfully,
CHAR. E. HODGKINS.
At home, 720 15th St. West of G.

YOU CAN INVENT ANY AMOUNT FROM $1 a month up to the Home Building Association and get 5 per cent on your savings. Ask about it. Wm. F. Gulliver, pres.; Geo. W. Lusk and J. Paul Smith, directors; James W. Woodward, sec. 720 15th St. N.W. Cloughlin, treasurer, 2024 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W.

Quick Watch Repairing
We are now organized to repair your watch quickly and well at

Ramsay's Watch Shop
132 F St. N.W.
All Work Guaranteed

During February and March We are Making Special Price on Old House Wiring—No Repairing Necessary.

THE H. I. SCHAEFER ELECTRIC CO., 711 13th St. N.W. Main 1286. Experts in Electrical Work.

FOR SALE—HOTEL.
Twenty five rooms, dining room and entry; 10 minutes from Union station. City plot; opposite printing office. Address Box 158-7, Star office.

LUTHER L. DERRICK
Real Estate Broker, 912 15th St. N.W., Phone Main 1286. Where he will be pleased to see or hear from his friends.

Quality Workmanship Always
—We make old roofs as good as new. 826 13th St. N.W. IRONCLAD Company, Ph. Main 14.

Casey—the Man
—who repairs Plumbing, Heating Plants and Plumbing. Fine work at small cost. PLUMBING AND HEATING. CASEY, 3307 14th St. N.W. Phone Col. 156-1591.

"I NEVER DISAPPOINT."
—In all things pertaining to printing—commit us. High grade but not high priced printing.

THE SERVICE SHOP. PRINTING. BYRON S. ADAMS, 512 13th St. N.W.

CLAFLIN OPTICAL CO., 807 F STREET, N.W. Oldest Optical House.

Indiana Flooring Company
Wood floors scraped and sanded by the most approved method. Floors of WHITE OAK, laid over your old floors and stained.

Office and Heated Warehouse,
302 E St. N.W. Telephone Main 32, 11.

NOW
NO MORE TIME TO CONSULT US REGARDING ROOFS

R. K. FERGUSON, Inc.,
1011 9th St. N.W.
Phone M. 166 and 167.
ROOFING DEPARTMENT.

See
Lease
if You
Need
Eyeglasses

M. A. LEESE
THE PLUMBING IS VITALLY IMPORTANT
IN ANY BUILDING

You're safe when Colbert does the work. It is the best investment in Plumbing you can make.

COLBERT, 621 F St. N.W. M. 3017.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.
REV. CHARLES E. PATTON
and Mrs. Dr. Isabella Mack Patton of China will speak in the Fourth Presbyterian Church, 13th and Fairmont sts., this evening at 8 o'clock. Public cordially invited.

THE WASHINGTON AMERICANIZATION CATECHISM.

THEODORE W. NOYES.

III.

(8) Why do you not propose by constitutional amendment direct grant of the status of state citizens for the purpose of national representation?

Why do you ask in your amendment only that Congress be EMPOWERED to admit you to that status?

The amendment is so worded as to reduce to a minimum opposition to its passage. It became evident when the issue was tested in the Senate two years ago that Congress would favor an amendment which directly and immediately gave this status and representation to the District.

To empower Congress to admit the District to partial statehood for limited purposes is the natural and logical procedure, since the Constitution has already given to Congress the power to admit to full statehood all the territory of the United States, except the District of Columbia.

Congress wishes in respect to the District the same power which it exercises in the admission of territories to statehood. It wishes to scrutinize minutely before admitting to representation in House and Senate the proposed new constituency. It wishes to convince itself of the fitness of this constituency for national representation in quantity and quality of population, in intelligence, in public spirit, in Americanism and in material, taxable resources.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

The party in Congress has traditionally examined closely the partisan complexion of the prospective constituents, in public opinion, that the new senators and representatives would be hostile if immediately elected to Congress.

Abe Martin Says:

We wonder how th' ole-time hobo that wanted a dime fer a bed is gittin' by.

Miss Myrt Pash, who got married a week ago, has gone back t' her ole face.

ship, and the strong desire to enjoy its rights, its privileges and its power.

Thus the very act of meeting fully the primary war-time obligation of "national safety and national service" first aroused and thrilled Washington with a passionate determination to nationalize itself, to become an integral part politically of the nation, to rid itself of an Americanism that is stunted, defective, tainted, and inspires it in a spirit of patriotic enthusiasm to organize itself so thoroughly that its whole weight and strength can be thrown as a unit in support of the constitutional amendment which is to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

War not only makes natural and opportune the Washingtonian's thought of national representation, but brings to the national appreciation of its shameful lack of political equity in dealing with the capital community and prompts it to Americanize its capital quickly as a wise measure of war preparedness and of a peace of justice.

KALORAMA CITIZEN ELECTION IS HELD

A. Coulter Wells Is Chosen President of Association Recently Organized.

A. Coulter Wells was elected president of the Kalorama Citizens' Association at a meeting last night in the ballroom of the Highlands Apartment. Other officers chosen to head this newly organized civic body are:

Charles R. Pierce, first vice president; Dr. E. L. Schaff, second vice president; Capt. Charles A. Barnard, corresponding secretary; Edward R. Walton, Jr., financial secretary; and Lawrence J. Heller, treasurer.

As it had been the original intention of the members of the association to join the Federation of Citizens' Associations, two delegates were elected last night. They are Lee Lamar Robinson and Edwin S. Hege.

The constitution of the association was formally adopted as presented with a few slight changes in several of the by-laws. The articles and sections of the constitution did not differ greatly from those of the other existing citizens' associations.

The territory of the association as set forth in the constitution is as follows: West side of 16th street, from Columbia road to Florida road; north side of Florida avenue, from 16th street to Rock creek at Q street bridge; north along the left bank of Rock creek to Quarry road; south and east along the west side of Quarry road to Columbia road; east along the south side of Columbia road to point of beginning.

Mrs. Anna E. Hendley, president of the association, introduced a resolution asking for national representation in the District of Columbia. Action was deferred upon this matter, as it was thought best by several members to postpone such a resolution until a formal statement could be drawn up explaining in detail the nature of suffrage wanted.

Selection of Police Head.
Capt. Robert E. Doyle of the third precinct was endorsed by several members for superintendent of police, the matter being referred to the executive committee to report to the association at the next meeting.

Future meetings of the association will be held the second Wednesday of each month in the auditorium of the Cooke School, 17th street near Columbia road.

Forty-six new members were elected, bringing the total membership of the association up to about 225. Further activity in securing new members was urged.

Will Address W. and L. Alumni.
The local alumni association of Washington and Lee University will hold a meeting at the University Club next Monday night. Wade H. Ellis, a graduate of the university, class of '89, a journalist at one time and an assistant attorney general and now an attorney of the Washington bar, will be the speaker of the evening, having for his subject "Russia and America." Friends of members of the association and the university will be welcomed.